Wine of the Week

This week, in honour of DineLA, we are featuring two fantastic wines from stellar producers in Greece.

Iliana Malihin

"Young Vines" Vidiano, Crete 2021

$20/$78

One of Greece's youngest and most progressive winemakers, Iliana Malihin, who is just shy of 30, has caught international attention for her beautiful, natural, and low-intervention examples of the Cretan variety Vidiano. Farmed organically near the mountainous town of Rethymno in Crete, here we have the vinification of her younger Vidiano vines. Gently pressed into stainless steel, the wine ferments by native yeasts before being kept on the lees for six months. Expect a vibrant and textured white with white peach, chamomile, apricot skins and herbs.

Diamantakos

"Naoussa" Xinomavro, Naoussa PDO 2019

$22/$86

Though it does not yet possess Santorini Assyrtiko's international allure, Xinomavro is widely considered the noble red grape of Greece capable of producing some absolutely stunning wines with incredible aging potential. It is produced in the north in Macedonia, often drawing comparison to Barolo for its high tannin and high acidity and Burgundy for its delicate complexity. Here we have a classic example of the prestigious Naoussa PDO, stipulating 100% Xinomavro grapes. Expect an incredibly well balanced wine, with a nose of dark red berries, tomato, olive paste and spices. Like most well made Xinomavro, you'll find tannin and acidity in excellent proportion.

N.B. We add an 18% service charge to all bills.

This charge is shared exclusively by our whole team to create a more equitable restaurant model.
